A piece of art that you can eat! _solo exhibition 'PATTERN' _SVB Amstelveen

By visual artist Stephanie Rhode

1th February till 29th of March 2016

This exhibition is special because: A piece of art that you can eat. Rhode has created a hanging sculpture of chocolate and invites the employees of 'Sociale Verzekeringsbank' to eat the sculpture during the exhibition. Through the eating a new pattern originates. Every time an employee of the insurance bank passes the sculpture he or she allows himself something good...

With the exhibition 'pattern' Rhode shows that our life is formed by patterns, in the nature, as well as in the way we develop, find our way in our life and how we behave. Our society and our surroundings are built up from structures and patterns. But often these structures and patterns let us struggle.
